

Microsoft Project Server 2010 – A No Nonsense, Half-Day Workshop

ProSymmetry – a highly specialized, EPM-focused, Microsoft Gold Partner and Platinum Sponsor for Microsoft’s Project 2010 Roadshow– is offering a free, half-day workshop on Microsoft Project Server 2010 July 30th at the Palace Station Casino in Las Vegas, NV. The workshop is free. Drinks and snacks will be served.

The workshop will be delivered by ProSymmetry’s Managing Director, Sean Pales. At ProSymmetry, Sean oversees all EPM customization and deployment services. Prior to joining ProSymmetry, Sean headed up Microsoft’s EPM pre-sales engineering practice covering 300+ enterprise customers. Sean is a former Microsoft Project MVP and speaks on topics related to Microsoft’s EPM solution at forums across the United States.

This half-day workshop will focus on the benefits witnessed by early adopters of the 2010 solution. ProSymmetry will draw from real-world deployments and focus on critical topics such as architecture planning, performance planning, licensing, deployment options, upgrade and deployment pitfalls as well as system configuration in light of substantially new functionality.

ProSymmetry will pay special attention to topics such as workflow, report writing and web usability. Real-world case studies will serve as support for the content covered in the workshop including (i) upgrading from Project Server 2007, (ii) moving from a WSS to a SharePoint Server world, and (iii) transitioning from Daptiv to Project Server 2010.

This promises to be a valuable morning of education taught by experts with real-world field experience. Please join us to learn more about the EPM 2010 solution and how it can play a critical role in adapting your organization to the new realities of business in the 21st century.
